"UNDER THE TREE."

P R E F A C E.

SINCE the publication of the Second Edition of this Catalogue, so many new foreign postage stamps have been issued, and such variations of colour have been adopted, that the intention of printing supplementary sheets has been of necessity abandoned. In this new edition an alteration has been made in the type by which the value and colour of each stamp may be more readily seen; the descriptions have been thoroughly revised and corrected; the name of every effigy impressed on the stamps is given; and a statement of the known counterfeit stamps, and of the method of detecting them, has been added.

Through the assistance of numerous correspondents, I am able to make more than four hundred additions to the stamps described in the former Catalogue; and for the suggestion of many improvements, and for his kind co-operation and assistance, I am largely indebted to Dr. Rix of St. Neots.

The following particulars may be interesting. Posts or couriers were established at a very early period, for the safe and speedy transmission of public intelligence. They originated in the regular couriers established by Cyrus, who erected post-houses throughout the kingdom of Persia. An institution under the name of “Cursus publicus” was established at Rome by Augustus.

In England, the plan commenced in the reign of Edward IV., in 1481, when riders on post-horses went stages of the distance of twenty miles from each other, in order to procure the king the earliest intelligence of the events that passed during the war with the Scots. The first chief postmaster was Mr. Thomas Randolph, appointed by Queen Elizabeth in 1581; and the office of foreign postmaster was created by James I. In 1635, Charles I. erected a letter-office for England and Scotland; but this extended only to a few of the principal roads, and the postmasters on each road were required to furnish horses for the conveyance of letters at the rate of $2\frac{1}{2}d.$ per mile. At length, in 1649, Mr. Edward Prideaux, Attorney-General for the Commonwealth, instituted a weekly conveyance of letters to all parts of the kingdom; and in 1657 the post-office was placed on nearly its present footing, the rate of postage then adopted continuing till the reign of Queen Anne. Even as late as 1735, the post was only transmitted three days a-week between Edinburgh and London; and on one occasion the metropolis only sent a single letter, which was for a Scotch banker named Ramsay.

Previously to the introduction of a uniform penny rate, the postage was charged on a sliding scale, increasing in proportion to the distance. Thus, a letter under eight miles was charged $2d.$, under fifteen, $4d.$, and so on; and differential rates were used for England, Scotland, and Ireland. In 1837, however, Sir Rowland Hill broached his plan of "Penny Postage," which was adopted after investigation by a Committee of the House of Commons. The new Postage Law, by which a uniform rate of 4*d.* for each letter was tried as an experiment, came into operation 5th December, 1839; and the uniform rate of 1*d.* for each letter of half-ounce weight commenced in January, 1840.

The General Post-Office in London was originally established in Cloak Lane, near Dowgate Hill, whence it was transferred to the Black Swan in Bishopsgate Street. On occasion of the great fire of 1666, it was removed to Brydges Street, Covent Garden; and afterwards to Sir Robert Viner's mansion in Lombard Street, where it continued until 1829, when it was transferred to St. Martin's-le-Grand. It now occupies the site of an ancient college and sanctuary. The building was commenced in 1825, from designs by R. Smirke, Esq., and completed in 1829. The street letter-boxes were erected in March 1855, and the first was placed at the corner of Fleet Street and Farringdon Street.

The postage-stamp system had its origin in England, where alone for ten years it was made use of. France adopted it in 1849; the Tour and Taxis Office (Germany) in 1850; and it is now in use over a great part of the civilized world. The distance over which Mails are at present conveyed within the United Kingdom by railways, mail-carts, steam-packets, &c., is about 150,000 miles a-day, or more than six times the distance round the earth, and the number of letters delivered annually is 593 millions.

The practice of collecting postage-stamps is so generally popular, that a few words on this subject may not be out of place. Trifling as the pursuit may at first sight be deemed, it has greatly aided the study of geography and a knowledge of foreign currency. Many, to whom the names of Luzon, Nevis, and Thurn and Taxis, conveyed no definite idea, are now able to point out the exact position of each on the map; can calculate the English equivalents of soldi, bajocchi, crazie, and lepta; and tell the difference between neu groschen and silber groschen, skillings-banco and öre. Nearly every issue has something curious connected with it, and indicates political changes with as much certainty to the collector, as coins do to the numismatist. To illustrate this, take the stamps of Naples. The first issue was in circulation from 1857 till 1860; when the king was dethroned, and a temporary stamp was then adopted bearing the Savoy cross. On the annexation of Naples to Sardinia this again was superseded by one bearing the effigy of Victor Emmanuel, though still retaining the Neapolitan “grani” currency.

In many instances the postage-stamp is a gem as regards engraving, the most skilful artists having been employed to prepare the die. Those of Russia, Antigua, and Nova Scotia are especially noticeable. Among the most curious are the American local postage-stamps, which are impressed with a great variety of devices,—such as letter-boxes, effigies of the proprietors, carrier-pigeons, horses, eagles, &c. Our own colonies, too, indulge in not a few variations. New Brunswick has a crown and four stars; a bust of Queen Victoria; a railway locomotive; a steam-ship; a likeness of the Prince of Wales; and, last but not least, the likeness of Mr. Connell, a Postmaster-general, who, being out of the ordinary 5-cent stamp, had his portrait engraved thereon, and acquired a certain amount of notoriety at the expense of his situation.

There is great scope for taste in the arrangement of a large collection of postage-stamps. Strictly speaking, it should be chronological, and should follow a numerical order of value as in the Catalogue. Yet it frequently happens that the tints will then kill one another, and some judgment must be exercised to preserve a harmony of colours, and to show the stamps to advantage. Lately, in the “States in Union in North America,” a postage-stamp currency has been introduced, and the notes are very curious, representing many millions of dollars. After this, who will bring a charge of triviality against postage-stamps when not only one of the most commercial governments in the world takes them under its especial protection; while they may also be looked upon as auxiliaries to a knowledge of geography, history, currency, and to a cultivation of taste in colour and design?

Some, and especially foreign collectors, make a distinction between perforated stamps and others. Perforation, however, is but a contrivance to facilitate the separation of stamps for use. It was first used in England, and is gradually becoming adopted in other countries. The stamps used in the colonies of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were cut transversely, half a stamp representing half the value of an entire one. Letters are frequently found bearing upon them stamps thus divided.

At first, collectors were satisfied to exchange stamps, but the desire of procuring specimens is now so great, that they have actually become marketable commodities, and possess a certain fictitious, apart from their intrinsic, value. Some stamps, which have been out of use for many years, are exceedingly scarce. I know an instance where the enormous price of a guinea and a-half was asked and paid for a single obliterated stamp, the value of which, when new, was under fourpence! The value of stamps in present use depends upon their "condition," whether used or unused; and upon the difficulty of obtaining them; those from the Philippines and Hawaian Islands are among the most scarce.

The "old" stamps being very simple in design, and commanding high prices, it will be seen how great is the temptation to reproduce them, as has been and still is done, both here and on the continent, by dishonest persons. However accurate the imitation may be, there are trifling differences in the impression, by which a connoisseur may at once determine whether a stamp under inspection is genuine or spurious. The following is a list of those especially demanding a careful examination :—

Names of the Fictitious Stamps.

DISTINCTIVE CHARACTERISTICS.

ARGENTINE CONFEDERATION.

1861.—5 c., 10 c., 15 c.

Lithographed instead of die printed; cap of Liberty wanting; Greek bordering badly executed; and the colours much brighter.

BADEN.

9 kr. white.

The colour is discharged by chemical agents.

6 kr. yellow, 6 kr. rose, 9 kr. green, 9 kr. yellow.

The circles are neatly cut out and inverted, so as to change the 6 kreuzers into 9 kreuzers, and vice versâ. This trick may be discovered, by immersing the stamp for a short time in water, when the cut portion will fall out.

BAVARIA.

1 kr. dark brown.

Merely a photograph of the genuine stamp, and easily detected by a slight examination.

BRUNSWICK.

Inscription [post schein], horse and post-horn in oval.

Various values.

Not postage stamps ; merely stamps impressed on the receipts given by the Post-office for registered letters.

DENMARK.

4 r. b. s. head of Mercury ; 8 r. b. s. head of King.

The true stamps are of a clear brown colour. The counterfeits are nearly black, and in some instances, photographic copies.

3 thiele.

Purely imaginary, no such postage-stamp has ever been issued.

FRANCE.

All the imp. on rose paper.

Produced by immersion in a coloured solution, the genuine postage-stamps are on white and tinted paper.

Small effigy without any inscription, and about one-fourth the size of the ordinary postage-stamp.

Trade labels ; found most commonly on bonbons and packets of French chocolate.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Ocean penny postage.

This so-called postage-stamp is but part of a fancy envelope, designed by some enthusiastic advocates of the universal penny postage.

ICELAND.

Inscription [Vulnere], bear in shield. Col. imp. rect.

Various colours.

In Iceland, the Danish postage-stamps only are used. The "bear in shield," is a trade label for bear's grease, &c. ; it was unfortunately placed in my first edition without due inquiry, and is still catalogued by some, as a postage-stamp !

JAMAICA.

1½d. and 3d. with arms.

Bill-stamps, not postage-stamps.

MODENA.

All.

Lithographed ; usually better executed than the genuine specimens, and especially clear about the crown and wreath ; generally unobliterated.

NAPLES.

½ Tornese blue, (arms).

Lithographed ; the Medusa head joining the three legs absent, and colour much paler.

½ Tornese blue, (cross).

Lithographed ; no blue line across the impression, and paler colour.

PARMA.

All.

Lithographed ; slightly different in tint, but all exceedingly well executed. In the true Provisional Government issue, the letter I in the inscription is like the figure 1.

ROMAGNA.

All.

Lithographed ; generally unobliterated ; name and value in smaller type, and not so sharply defined and angular ; ornaments at each angle obscure ; colours brighter.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

1 cent, 2 cents.

Lithographed ; the letters less bold.

5 cents brownish-black.

A photograph of the true stamp, which is blue.

SPAIN.

1854.—Official labels.

Lithographed instead of die printed.

SWITZERLAND.

GENEVA, NEUCHÂTEL, AND VAUD.

Inscription in larger type ; otherwise exceedingly well executed, and very difficult to detect, except by comparison with genuine stamps.

TURKEY.

Star and crescent. Col. imp. ; square.

6 truizi green, 3 mara red.

There are no postage-stamps yet issued for the Ottoman Empire.

UNITED STATES.

1857 and 1861.—Impressions on dark col. paper.

All.

These are backed by a coloured preparation applied to the genuine stamps, which are on white paper.

These are among the most prominent forgeries, and by steering clear of them, a collector will have but few false stamps.

I shall still esteem the favour of a description of any stamp omitted, whether old or issued subsequently to this compilation. And, in conclusion, I would suggest that collectors furnish themselves with two copies of this Catalogue: one to keep by them for reference; the other with a line drawn under the stamps not wanted, to forward to their friends, who may thus see what are required. The book will go by book-post for 1*d.*, and save much trouble, time, and expense. Any information that lies in my power I shall be happy to give; but persons wishing for a reply must enclose a postage-stamp for that purpose.

M. BROWN.
